Local group buys Mt. Abram

JOHN VINCENT and CITIZEN STAFF

A group of local investors have purchased Mt. Abram Ski Slopes Inc. from Oxford Bank and Trust.

The two highest bidders at the foreclosure auction in May announced Friday that they had combined camps to purchase the ski area as a team of investors.

The new owners say they will expand snowmaking, grooming and skiing terrain, as well as spruce up support facilities at Mt. Abram.

Rick and Micki Hoddinott of Readfield, and Jeff Van Decker of Ossipee will run the resort for the rest of the investment team which also includes Tom Kennison of Kennison Real Estate in Norway, Tim Good of CNC Systems Inc., a tool distribution firm from Kennebunk, and Pat Dutton of Bath Electrical.

Hoddinott has run Downeast Whitewater Rafting Co. in The Forks for 15 years. He said he plans to market the two activities together and share employees between the two businesses.

Hoddinott had been the high bidder at an auction for the ski area in May. At that auction, the lien holder, Oxford Bank and Trust, a division of People's Heritage Bank, topped Hoddinott's bid of $665,000 and bought it back from themselves with a bid of $960,000.

Hoddinott said he got in touch with the other main bidders, led by Kennison, after the auction to see if there was any interest in working together.

The purchase was announced Friday at a press conference at the Goldstreet Restaurant in Norway.

Taxpayer exposure unknown

The ski area was put on the auction block in May to satisfy a 1988 loan of $1 million, ending 35 years of ownership and management by the Cross family.

The 1988 loan was used to refinance earlier debt, and to develop new trails, a new chairlift and increase snowmaking capacity at Mt. Abram.

The federal Small Business Administration guaranteed 75 percent of the 1988 loan.

Kennison said the investment group is not saying how much it paid for the ski area.

Whether or not U.S. taxpayers (who ultimately underwrote SBA loans) will lose money on the sale is unknown at this time.

SBA liquidation officer Dana Relyea said the sale amount did not cover the balance of the loan and there is a deficit. Because of ongoing litigation, Relyea said he could not reveal what the deficit is.

"We'll take the measures necessary to collect on it," Relyea said. "We'll do what we have to get back as much as we can."

Oxford Bank and Trust can recover up to 75 percent of the million-dollar loan from the SBA, Relyea said. The SBA will try to collect any money it pays out as guarantors, he said, from the owners of Mt. Abram at the time of the loan.

The sale price of Mt. Abram should become public information when the town of Greenwood receives the ski area's transfer tax form next month, according to Oxford County Register of Deeds Jane Rich.

A family mountain

The investment group is planning to expand and renovate Mt. Abram facilities this summer and fall, according to Kennison.

Engineers are currently studying how to best improve snow making capacity on the mountain, Kennison said.

The lodge and lifts will be painted this summer, he said, and the group also plans to increase Mt. Abram's grooming capacity. The investment group is not releasing more specific plans at this time, Kennison said.

"We feel if we can put down the snow cover, people will want to ski there," Kennison said.

"We really want the community to know that we're there for them," he said. "We are an alternative to Sunday River and Sugarloaf. We want to be a family mountain. We plan to keep it affordable. Mt. Abram has always been a family place to ski. We offer challenging and advanced terrain as well as beginners' terrain."

The waiver is conditional on the state fire marshal approving the plan. School officials had not continued the fire marshal prior to asking the local Planning Board for its advisory opinion, according to Rice, who presented the plan.

Board members raised few questions about the plan, but Bethel fire

CPS bid awarded

The SAD44 Board of Directors voted Monday evening to accept Arthur C. Dudley Construction's bid of $3,752,510 for construction of the addition to the Crescent Park School.

The Standish company should break ground at the site within the next two weeks, according to school officials.

The remaining $1,177,490 of the $4,930,000 project will go toward asbestos removal, architects and engineer fees, survey and soil tests, new equipment, one percent for art, other miscellaneous fees and services and a $200,000 construction contingency account.

chief Jim Young and second engineer Dave Brown, questioned Rice about the distances between the individual portables and the Telstar building, and the plans for insuring emergency vehicle access and emergency pupil egress.

Rice said the distance between most of the buildings will be 12 to 15 feet. (A diagram of the portables' placement, as submitted to the School Board Monday night, is published on page 2)

Chief Young said later he was still concerned about the safety of the arrangement, especially about children having adequate escape routes in the event of emergency.

"We had three bomb threats down there last year," he said. "And if we had to fight a fire down there, it's an awfully tight space to try to work in."

Young said he was waiting to see

Bethel Planning Board: No review needed for CPS scheme

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The portable classroom village proposed for housing Crescent Park School pupils next year at Telstar High School will not have to go through Bethel's site plan review process.

Members of the town Planning Board agreed unanimously Wednesday night that due to what they termed "the emergency and temporary" nature of the move, they would waive the normal review process.

Board member Don Feeney compared the move to the temporary relocation of businesses following a fire-circumstances in which the board has also waived the site plan review.

Buildings and grounds supervisor Bernie Rice said the portables are expected to be at Telstar for only one year, "as long as the construction at CPS stays on schedule."

The waiver is conditional on the state fire marshal approving the plan. School officials had not con-

Historical Society celebrates Fourth with community picnic and concert

In honor of Independence Day, on Sunday July 4 the Bethel Historical Society will host a community picnic on the grounds of the Moses Mason house.

Picnickers will gather at 11 a.m. in the back yard of the Dr. Moses Mason House.

At 11:30 a.m. Dr. Ernest Cassara, a historical society member and retired history professor, will speak briefly on the meaning of Independence Day.

The Portland Brass Quintet will begin a brass band concert immediately following Dr. Cassara's remarks.

The quintet's appearance is sponsored by a Maine Arts Commission grant, the Bethel Historical Society's Hall Memorial Fund, the Bethel Rotary Club and Leslie B. Otten of Newry. The Historical Society is hoping to raise an additional $200 to cover the brass ensemble's expenses, according to society director Dr. Stan R. Howe.

Sunday's event is a revival of Dr. Moses Mason's custom of inviting the community to picnic on his grounds on July 4, enjoy a brass band concert and reflect on the importance of honoring the nation's beginnings, Howe said.

In case of rain, the festivities will be held in Odcon Hall.

Evening activities on the Fourth include fireworks displays in Rumford, and Gorham, N.H.

Skyrockets will fly at Hosmer Field in Rumford shortly after dusk Sunday night.

Fireworks on the Gorham, N.H. common are scheduled to begin at 9:30 p.m.

New fiscal year, but no new SAD44 budget

By WENDY HANSCOM

SAD44 will start fiscal year 1994 tomorrow with no new budget.

Faced with continued uncertainty about how much state-aid the district can expect, the SAD44 board of directors had put off scheduling the traditional spring annual district budget meeting.

State guidelines call for the district to use the total FY '93 budget figure of $5,966,800 as the FY '94 budget until voters approve a new budget, according to Superintendent Dewaine Craig.

Following several budget workshops this spring, the School Board tentatively agreed to a $6,090,076 FY '94 budget--a 2.07 increase over the FY '93 budget.

At Monday's regular board meeting, Craig predicted that the state will come up with its own FY '94 budget in the next week, so the board established tentative dates to finalize the district's FY '94 budget.

A public hearing on the budget was set for July 20, and the annual district budget meeting was scheduled for July 28. Both meetings will be held at Telstar at 7 p.m.

At least one SAD44 town has decided to temporarily defer payment to the district until the FY '94 budget is finalized.

N.H. land trust buys island on Umbagog

Pingree Associates Inc. announced the "bargain sale" last week of its entire interest in Town Line Island in the southern portion of Lake Umbagog to the State of New Hampshire.

The price of Pingree's share of the undeveloped 16-acre island was one third less than the appraised fair-market value, according to Pingree Associates, which joined the Trust for New Hampshire Lands and the New Hampshire Land Conservation Investment Program in announcing the sale.

The sale permanently protects the tract from development. The LCIP has already acquired the remainder of the island from Oxford Paper Co.

"The island is one of a kind in Lake Umbagog," said Sarah Thorne of the Trust for New Hampshire Lands, adding that its tall pine stands, sand beaches and accessibility from the public boat ramp on Route 26 make it "an ideal picnic spot for boaters."

Far from the maddening crowd

Local wilderness area offers solitude, but not for large groups

By MICHAEL DANIELS

"If you're going for a wilderness experience, you're not out to meet people," said Evans Notch District Ranger Rollie Ortegon.

And you won't be meeting many, at least not in large groups, in the nearby Caribou-Speckled Mountain Wilderness Area.

Ortegon said that one little-known aspect of the 1990 designation of 12,000 acres as wilderness area is that parties of more than 10 hikers or campers are prohibited from using the area.

The limitation is enforced by the U.S. Forest Service, which has backcountry rangers patrolling the forest during the high-use season. The rangers can issue citations when they encounter violations of the wilderness regulations, but so far the Forest Service has confined itself for the most part to educating any overly large parties found in the wilderness area.

Permits are required for any organized group wishing to use the National Forest (including non-wilderness areas). This includes schools, summer camps, churches, hiking clubs, scout groups and other youth organizations, as well as groups organized by professional outfitters and guides.

The permitting process gives the Forest Service some control over the larger groups, but both Caribou and Speckled mountains are also popular day-trip destination for local people and summer visitors. And as long as their party size stays under 10 people, Ortegon said, such hikers are not affected by the wilderness designation--although they will be seeing fewer and fewer signs of human activity as the Forest Service moves ahead with implementing its management plan for the area.

The popular Caribou Mountain shelter, for example, is being taken down this summer (with the pieces carried out by llamas rather than motor vehicles), and trail signs in the wilderness area are to be replaced by simpler signs identifying the trail but not showing the distance to given destinations.

Ortegon worries that not everyone is ready for the changes, including many people who supported the wilderness designation.

There's been some grumbling, he said, "when the reality began to hit home," and even talk of attempting to have the 10-person limit removed.

"From a public education point of view, we've got a long way to go," he said. "A lot of folks thought the wilderness process stopped with the designation, but it doesn't—it just began there."

"We have to help them understand that in a wilderness area, man is just a visitor. When the numbers get too high, they'll have to be brought back down. It's the most difficult part of managing the wilderness."

But once the profile of man is lowered, and the natural processes are allowed to regain primacy, Ortegon said, he hoped people would "begin to realize that it's not just another place to climb to the top of a hill."

Permits are required for any organized group wishing to use the National Forest (including non-wilderness areas). This includes schools, summer camps, churches, hiking clubs, scout groups and other youth organizations, as well as groups organized by professional outfitters and guides.

SUMMER BASEBALL IS BACK

To the Editor:

This, the summer of '93, is looking like a great summer for baseball in the SAD44 area. Thanks to the dedication of a few good men, new teams have been organized and are playing great baseball. The Locke Mills Legion has put endless time and a great deal of money into the formation of a Legion team for players 18 years of age and younger. The efforts of people like Earl Tyler, Brian Strickland and Andy Bartlett are being obviously appreciated by the players as smiles and enthusiasm run rampant throughout the team.

As a parent I would like to publicly express my appreciation to these men for pulling this off and providing the opportunity for boys to continue playing baseball after Babe Ruth League. I would also like to thank Les Otten and Nate Buckman for their efforts as coaches. I know that their involvement was also instrumental to the gathering of enough players to make the team a reality.

I would also like to express my appreciation to a group of fathers and baseball lovers for providing two Babe Ruth teams in the area. (Babe Ruth baseball is for players ages 13 to 15.) Bill Myers and David Luxton continue to do a fine job with team in Bethel and Robbie Wormell, Les Thurlow, Mike Inman and Joe Hebert are busy with a team in Greenwood/Woodstock. These two teams are made up of players throughout the SAD44 area.

For people who like to watch live baseball, the summer of '93 looks like a great one. You can find a game any day or night at one of three fields: Gould, Telstar, or Woodstock.

I hope that baseball will continue to grow in the area and that all the people presently involved will continue to provide opportunities for more and more players.

Who knows? Maybe the summer of '94 will bring us a Pine Tree League Team for young men and "not so young" men.

The Portland Brass Quintet's appearance is made possible by a grant from the Maine Arts Commission and contributions from the Bethel Rotary Club, The Hall Memorial Fund of the Bethel Historical Society, and Leslie B. Otten. Approximately $200 has yet to be raised. Contributions in any amount will be gratefully received by the Society and they are tax deductible as allowable by law. Please direct them to the Society at P.O. Box 12, Bethel, Maine 04217.

Also, volunteers are needed to ready Odeon Hall for use in case of rain. Anyone interested in sweeping, setting up chairs, and picking up a bit should call the Society at 824-2908.

NO SUPPORT FOR LD 1285

To the Editor:

In response to Maria Termini's letter about LD 1285 Health Care. It is, as she says, a complex and vital issue, but this bill should not be supported.

I have done as she suggested and learned more about LD 1285. I went to the hearing in Portland. I spoke with my representative and I have a copy of the bill which I read and then asked questions about portions I was unclear about.

The bill seems hastily put together with certain specifics lacking.

One problem is the proposal to reduce workers' compensation rates. At the hearing the person presenting the bill, who also co-authored it, stated one figure for reducing the comp. rate, but the number in the bill was less of a reduction. It was the opinion of my representative that this figure is even optimistic and that it will be two or more years before there will be any reduction.

Another problem is the double tax that will be involved. This bill requires employers to provide a percentage as well as employees. This is also what is supposedly going to happen on the federal plan.

Remember the money the federal government puts in also comes from taxpayers. Why bother to pay a tax for a state health plan when we're going to have a federal plan anyway that we'll be taxed to support?

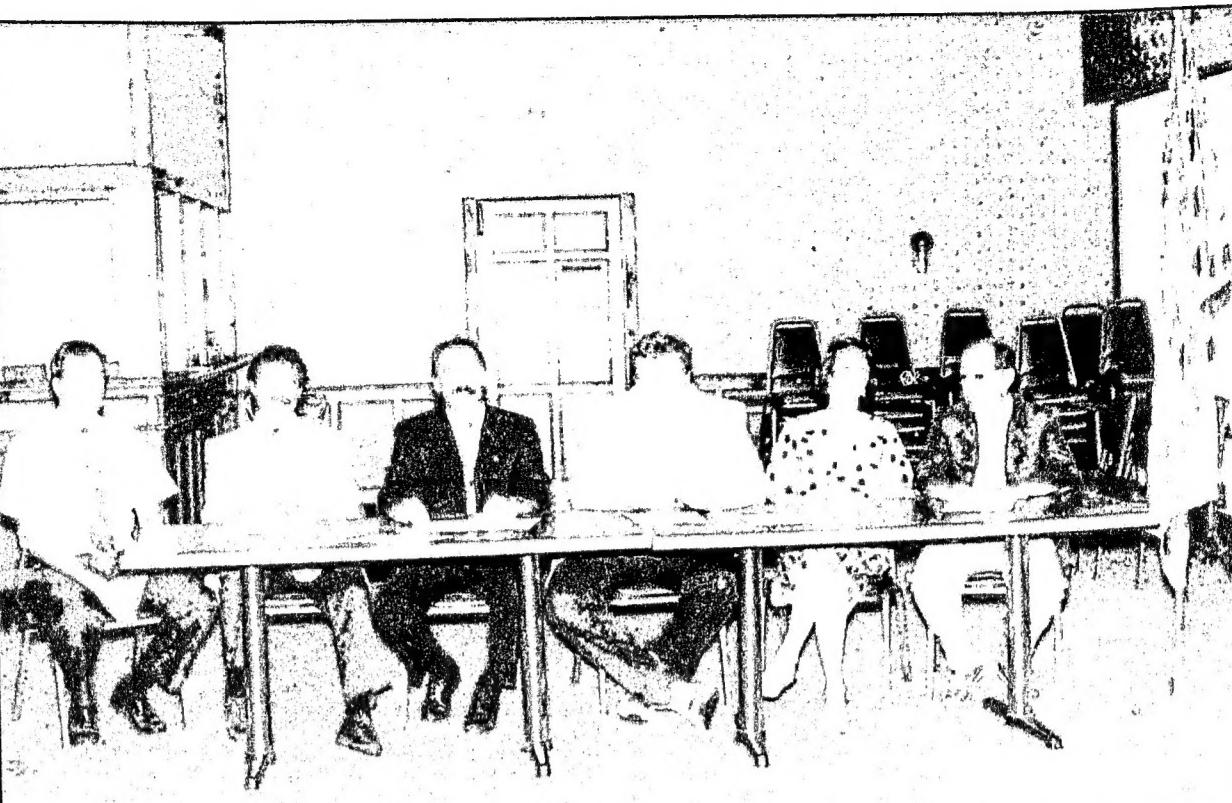

A third problem is the unclear manner in which coverage is mentioned. It says some people may opt for supplemental coverage. This means they aren't telling you yet how much coverage you'll get, but they want you to support it and pay for it. If for one don't want to pay for a state-sponsored health care plan and still have to pay a private insurer in order to be fully covered.

Lastly the only real specific, which is still murky, concerns limits of payment. Although they don't say what the amounts will be, there will be a certain amount paid for care based on Maine rates and that will be all. For example if they agree to only pay $300 a day for a hospital room because that's the highest in Maine and you have to go to Boston for an operation or you are hospitalized in another state while on vacation, you will only be covered for the $300 even if the room costs $450. You will of course be responsible for the difference.

The same thing applies for procedures. You could still have a large hospital bill if you have to go out of state, or choose to. As I mentioned earlier, there are no specific amounts stated yet.

I personally do not think we should support this health care bill. We should wait for the federal plan and not hastily approve something that, at best, needs much refining. I for one never dive into the water until I find out what's in it.

This is important legislation and

"This mountain fills a niche," Rick Hoddinott said at Friday's press conference. "You've got your Sunday River and Sugarloaf that are destination resorts, and our niche is as a family resort."

Robin Zinchuk, executive director of the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce, said she was pleased with the sale.

"It's a business that's going to employ people, and business health is important to this region. We didn't want to see Mt. Abram go by the wayside," Zinchuk said.

Former owner Don Cross said he will offer the new owners any advice he can to help them along.

"These guys have the gumption to get it running and do something with it," Cross said.

Three bad winters in a row forced him to return the resort to the bank at the end of last ski season, Cross said.

Ski Mt. Abram Inc. will be taking over 100 acres of skiing, with 22 trails, two chairlifts and three surface lifts.

"We hope skiers will support us while we get our plans laid out and make the changes that people want made," Kennison said. "We're anxious to hear from the skiing public."

Kennison said the group is planning a pre-season grand re-opening in the late fall.

Mt. Abram's new owners will also sponsor several special events on opening day sometime in late November or early December.

people should talk to their representatives. Find out what you are or are not getting. Ask specific questions. How much will it cost? How much coverage do I get? Will small businesses be able to absorb a double tax or will they be forced to close?

MORE PRAISE FOR MISS SUE

To the Editor:

After reading Mr. Carey's review of "Music Man" performed at Telstar Auditorium last week, I feel that I should add to his comments.

My son, Dean danced with Sue Clement Farrar for 12 years—all of his school years. Upon his graduation from Telstar in 1972, he went to UNH in Durham, N.H. He enrolled in a tap class being taught by a senior girl and reported to us that he knew more about tap-dancing than the teacher!

I have worked backstage in several capacities helping Miss Sue for 30 or more years, and always felt that I was part of the show. This year I graduated from "backstage" to "on stage" as Winthrop's Mother in "Music Man." I consider this as the highlight of my many years with Sue.

What a thrill and joy to be a part of such a superb production. Keep on keeping on Sue—and I hope to be there with you for many years to come. You are a very special lady.

TODDLERS' PLAYGROUND DONATIONS ROLLING IN

To the Editor:

Thanks to many area businesses and private citizens. We have reached half of our $8,000 goal. Just over $4,000 in matching funds and donated labor and materials has been collected in a short three weeks. What a feat!

As you may have read in previous articles, this money will be matched by a Jobs Bond Grant. The time limit of the grant has been extended to mid-August giving us more time to raise the other $4,000. Last week's article was a bit misleading. We do not at the present time have $10,000.

Thank you so much for your generous donations: The Bethel Citizen, Janet Willie, Gaudreau's Auto Repair, Bethel Spa and Motel, Murray Thurston, Kenneth Bohr, Bethel Auto, Bonnema Potters, Powder Ridge, Bethel Savings Bank, Linda Gamble, Woodstock Wilderness, Walter Hatch, Chapman Inn and CMP.

This reminds me that while thanking all of the generous donors I have up until now forgotten to thank the hard-working committee members who have been out phoning and pounding the pavement raising money for the Park. So, a big thank you to Gail Giarrusso, Marcie Baker, Marilyn Swan, Connie Davidson and Liz Smith for making the first half of our fundraiser a success.

Because of your unrelenting efforts the Jobs Bond Office has agreed to an extension of our matching funds grant. So it's not too late to get your dollar in there and have it matched.

We will be getting a booth ready for Mollymocket Day. We will be selling adorable T-shirts, having an awesome raffle, meg-a-ducks, a game or two for the kids and a 50/50 raffle. So come support us. We will be bringing our pre-schoolers to the playground this fall. Come help. If you can man a booth or can help in any way, please contact Marcie Baker at 824-2213 or Marie Keane 824-2608.

Young said he was waiting to see what the state fire marshal had to say about the plan.

While the Planning Board members raised no objections to the plan Wednesday, they seemed uncertain what the proper procedure would be for dealing with the situation.

Chairman Frank Vogt twice called for motions to approve the plan—only to be greeted by silence. Feeney eventually made a formal motion that the site plan review be waived, but there was no second.

Following further discussion with planning assistant Nancy Schlieper, the members agreed that since the school system's request had been only for an advisory opinion, no vote was called for.

Other approvals and waivers

The planners also accepted as complete, and then approved, the site plan for Rebel Recreation and Aunt Nina's Day-care in West Bethel.

The board also agreed to allow the two businesses at the site to combine their signs into a single 6-by-10-foot sign.

The Bethel sign ordinance limits the maximum size for a business sign to 32 square feet, but the planners had recently allowed the signs for seven businesses at the nearby Ta-Ka-Radi store to be combined into a single sign of more than 120 square feet.

Following up on the earlier Ta-Ka-Radi sign approval, the board agreed on Wednesday to also waive the sign-size requirement for the "tile pile" at Ta-Ka-Radi.

The vote was unanimous, but board member Dennis Doyon expressed reservations about the increasing sign sizes. "At some point we're going to have to put a limit," he said.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

Members and friends of the Bethel Historical Society are reminded that the annual picnic will be held on July 1 at the residence of Rupert and Ina Grover in Mason.

If the weather is inclement, the meeting will be held at the home of Dan and Nancy Grover, also in Mason.

Those attending should bring a picnic lunch and meet at the Dr. Moses Mason House, beginning at 5:30 p.m. Those attending will be met in Mason to have various points of interest cited and described.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. and the program will feature a presentation on the history of Mason, which this year celebrates its 150th anniversary of incorporation.

Anyone interested in attending this picnic is cordially invited to do so.

During Dr. Mason's day, he opened his grove behind his house to anyone wishing to picnic and listen to band music and Fourth of July orations. This year anyone interested is invited to gather in the backyard of the Dr. Moses Mason House, beginning at 11 a.m. Please bring a picnic lunch. At 11:30 a.m. Dr. Ernest Cassara, a retired history professor, will briefly discuss the era of the Declaration of Independence and what the Fourth of July has come to mean to Americans.

Following Dr. Cassara's presentation, the Portland Brass Quintet will give a concert. Their appearance is made possible by contributions from the Maine Arts Commission, the Bethel Rotary, the Hall Memorial Fund of the Bethel Historical Society, Leslie B. Otten, and others.

If the weather is inclement, the picnic will be held in Odeon Hall. The picnic will be held in Odeon Hall.

Boise Cascade defends Andover logging practices

By JAMES STEVENS

A Boise Cascade forester told the Planning Board last week that the paper mill followed the best forest management practices in reconstructing the Stony Brook Road for a harvesting operation.

Noting that he was at the meeting "in regard to a newspaper article" on the June 7 Planning Board meeting about the harvesting operation and the effects on the Stony Brook reservoir, forester Brian Milligan said, "There seemed to be some confusion as to what we're doing on our land, in particular Stony Brook."

Milligan said the original road was "much closer" to the Stony Brook reservoir and adjacent to the brook. Noting that the road was moved an eighth of a mile from that location, Milligan said, "The road construction followed guidelines that were consistent with the Maine Forest Service's Erosion and Sediment Control Handbook for Maine Timber Harvesting Operations Best Management Practices."

Milligan added that "several control measures were exceeded," such as soil stabilization and hydro-seeding along the entire roadside, "not just near the stream crossings." He added that during culvert installation, water was redirected through a temporary culvert "to minimize the potential of sediment entering the stream."

Milligan added that the road was graded and crowned in the fall to allow water to run off into the ditches and filter strips, and not down the road surface and possibly into a stream leading to the reservoir.

Regarding the complaint about mud in the brook, Milligan said, "We took immediate corrective action to reduce sediment."

In the past year, he said, only Boise Cascade and a private landowner have harvested timber in the Stony Brook watershed and that International Paper Company doesn't own land in the area.

He invited Planning Board members to tour the road and harvest area and discuss any questions they may have.

"We will try to give you the best information of what we're doing and how we are doing it and the standards we set for ourselves," Milligan said. "This isn't intended to butt heads. This is more or less just to get some facts out and also to offer our assistance in informing anybody that's interested."

Asking to go on a tour of the area at a later date, board chairman Marshall Meissner said comments at the meeting about Boise Cascade and International Paper Company were part of a "private conversation" and "had nothing to do with the Andover Planning Board."

Meissner said he "asked the guy not to put it in the paper" and "was rather floored when I read it in the paper."

Battered women's services expanded

The Abused Women's Advocacy Project serving battered women throughout Oxford, Franklin and Androscoggin Counties has increased office hours and services to victims in Oxford County.

AWAP has recently hired Heidi Randall to work full time out of their Rumford Outreach office. Randall will be responsible for community education efforts, trainings, court advocacy and support for abused women from Oxford County.

Sylvia Gray recommended that the town hold payment until it receives an accurate bill from the district. The town's selectmen agreed.

In Woodstock, Town Manager Vern Maxfield said he will recommend to the town's selectmen that they make estimated payments to the district if its budget stays in limbo. Continuing to make payments will prevent school tax bills from doubling up, he said.

EMMISARIES TO NORTHERN IRELAND--Despite a report last Tuesday of a hotel bombing on the outskirts of Newry, Ireland, a group of SAD44 students and their chaperones left for the Northern Ireland town on Friday for a two-week stay. Steve Wight, who helped organize the trip, said the group learned of the bombing on a national news broadcast. Wight contacted officials in Newry, Ireland who assured him it was safe to go ahead with the trip, he said. While in Ireland, the SAD44 group will spend a week with local students from Protestant and Catholic high schools at a government sponsored outdoor educational facility. During the second week of the trip, the Maine students will be guests in the homes of their Irish hosts. The group will gather daily for sightseeing at local landmarks and historical sites. Leaving for Ireland last week were, on the slide: Brian Chastanet and Eben Smith. Standing: Steve Wight, left, Mary Newcomb, Mandy Sysko, Jerry Bernier, Ian Paquette, Cheri Myers, Kelley Cross and Polly Mahoney. Back row: Caitlin Bass, Sarah Stowell, Elise Bennett and Seneca Brooke. Absent from photo: Melinda Remington and Mandy McInnis. (Photo by Wendy Hanson)

NOTES FROM Adult Education

The Adult Learning Center, sponsored by Adult Education of the Telstar Region, will begin summer sessions on July 7 at the Ethel Bisbee School on Philbrook Street in Bethel.

The Learning Center will be open on Wednesday and Thursday mornings from 9 a.m. to noon, and on Wednesday evenings from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. Adults who would like to brush up on reading, writing or math skills are invited to attend and work on an individualized program of study with Jeanette Baldridge in the mornings and Karen Bean in the evening. Both sessions will have the use of the Community Computer Lab with many exciting academic skills software programs.

Adult Guidance Counselor Merrill Bitner will be available on Tuesday, July 6 to assist adults in planning their programs. To arrange an appointment, call 824-2780.

The summer computer courses offered by Adult Education of the Telstar Region have limited openings remaining for the session starting on July 6, according to Director of Adult and Community Education Cathy Newell. There is space left in the introduction to computers for both the July and August sessions, and in the keyboarding class, which is designed to teach basic keyboarding skills using the popular Mavis Beacon software program, Newell stated.

The introduction is a four-week class with sessions starting on July 8 and August 5, held on Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. The class is designed for those with little or no previous exposure to computers. The fee is $15. The keyboarding class will run on Thursdays from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. for six weeks. The fee is $25. Both classes are open to high school students or adults.

All computer classes are held at the Community Computer Lab at the Ethel Bisbee School on Philbrook Street in Bethel. The lab is equipped with IBM-compatible machines.

Open lab hours will also begin during the week following the Fourth of July holiday. The lab will be open on Friday afternoons from 3 to 6 p.m. and on Saturday mornings from 9 to 11 a.m., except for Mollie's Day on July 17. The charge for lab time is $2 per hour. The lab is open to those who are able to work independently. To arrange for lab time or to enroll in a class, call 824-2780.

Russian teacher joins Gould staff

Alexey Loshkarev of Moscow, Russia will join the Gould Academy science department this fall, according to Headmaster William P. Clough III.

The physics teacher from Moscow's Secondary Classic School No. 1507 was accepted by the Fulbright Program this year.

Loshkarev taught three-year stints in both Ethiopia and Tanzania, in addition to working in the Moscow public school system.

Headmaster Clough is hopeful that Loshkarev will challenge Gould's students with some new ways of looking at science, and will also provide the school with insights into Russian culture and language.

Gould's last Fulbright exchange, in 1992, created the impetus for sending the school's entire freshman class to Hungary for two weeks, and hosting a like number of Hungarians. Gould now has an ongoing Eastern European semester exchange.

PAY HIKES IN NOVA BUDGET

The Northern Oxford Vocational Area board of directors finalized a 1993-94 budget last week that includes pay increases for staff.

Edward Flynn of Rumford said the NOVA board completed a budget that includes so-called step increases for staff. Step increases are built-in raises based on experience.

Now that the board has a budget for vocational education programs, voters in all of the towns and districts served by NOVA must approve the budget.

The NOVA budget is included on town and school district annual budget meeting warrants, Flynn said. SADs 43, 44, and 21, as well as the towns of Gilford, Hanover, Peru and Upton are members of NOVA.

Open lab hours will also begin during the week following the Fourth of July holiday. The lab will be open on Friday afternoons from 3 to 6 p.m. and on Saturday mornings from 9 to 11 a.m., except for Mollie's Day on July 17. The charge for lab time is $2 per hour. The lab is open to those who are able to work independently. To arrange for lab time or to enroll in a class, call 824-2780.

BEATING THE HEAT—Locke Mills Legion baseball catcher Josh Otten tries to escape Saturday's oppressive heat and humidity by draping a wet towel over his head between innings. The Mountaineers split a double header Saturday with the New Auburn Legion team. The Mountaineers are 2-4 for the season and play at home again Thursday at 6 a.m. against Biddeford at the Gould Academy field. The Mountaineers are scheduled for a double header in Rumford Saturday.

DEADLINE NEARING FOR GOULD SCHOLARSHIP APS.

Students interested in applying for the Bingham Scholarship at Gould Academy are reminded to contact Gould by July 15 for fall enrollment.

There is one remaining full scholarship available for high school age students who reside in Maine.

According to school officials, the Bingham Scholar "must have an outstanding academic record, and the family must demonstrate considerable financial need."

If a student does not qualify for the Bingham Scholarship Program, he or she may still be a viable candidate for Gould and meet the criteria for other financial aid dollars. Families can contact the Admissions Office directly at 824-2196.

OXFORD REPUBLICANS MEET IN WEST PARIS

Ben Coes of Small Point, executive director of the Maine Republican Party, was the featured speaker at the June meeting of the Oxford County Republican Committee held at the Finnish-American Center in West Paris. Coes, a graduate of Columbia University, took over earlier this year as executive director after extensive political experience ranging from White House Intern during the Reagan years to speech writer for Energy Secretary Watkins. Coes stressed the need for the party to capture the Legislature in 1994 and outlined plans by the State Committee to further that goal. He praised leadership of the Oxford County Republican Committee in raising money and electing Republicans.

Following a bountiful meal provided by the Finnish-American Club, former State Representative and House Clerk E. Louise Lincoln of Bethel presented a plaque to former Representative Jacob Immonen of West Paris on behalf of the County Committee for his long years of service to his party and state.

During the business section of the meeting reports were heard from the program, voter list, youth, public relations and constitution committees. The next meeting was announced as a picnic to be held on July 13 at Representative Al Barth's residence on Grover Hill in Bethel.

The August meeting is scheduled for Fryeburg, the September meeting, Dixfield, and the October meeting, Woodstock.

STONEHAM RESCUE PLANS BENEFIT SPAGHETTI SUPPER

By GIL SEELEY

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Clark were in Concord, N.H. recently for a family reunion.

Betsy's sister and her husband from California visited them here in North Newry, and while here they took a trip to Vermont and Canada.

While I am writing about Betsy Clark, let me mention that she was the top bowler of the "Newry Bowling Gang" last week with a score of 312, beating us all by a large margin. Other members were: Karlene Bachelder, Gigi Seeley, Sylvia Wight, Louise Tetley and Doris Parent. Of the "lefties," as I mentioned before, Betsy was high on the singles and triples. Of the "righties" Sylvia was high on the singles and triples. Betsy had six spares and two strikes. Karlene had four spares, and Gil three spares.

My "good neighbors" are at it again...Norman Tetley came to finish the mailbox job he started by putting my numbers on it. Thank you, Norm. Karlene and Ras Bachelder came to cut my lawn one day...cheers to them. When I took my rakes back to the little shed, a two-foot snake was blocking my entrance!

Happy 4th of July...my mother was born on the 4th of July in 1866...

Quote: "The best way to cheer yourself up is to cheer somebody else up."

Greenwood City

By COLISTA MORGAN

This June morning was an interesting one, I looked across the pond and noticed that someone besides me was having breakfast. A great solitary bird stood knee deep in the water. How patient he was. He held his head high and remained quiescent or moved very slowly forward in the pond weeds until he saw his prey. Then very quickly he caught and held his breakfast in his sharp, serrated beak. Then Mr. Blue Heron flew away.

That afternoon I sat in my swing, quite apart from the busy world. The last of the spring flowers surrounded me. The smell of the air was clean and fresh. Clouds swept by on a gentle summer breeze.

Most of all I was aware of the deep, far reaching silence of the wooded hills. Occasionally a car swept by; otherwise no sound from man.

The phoebe, one of the earliest spring comers, now nesting over the shed door, made itself known by calling its name over and over. It sat near by. Its tail seemed to be loosely hung and bobbed up and down or swept sidewise very frequently. Now and then it darted and picked up a flying insect.

On all sides the green of the trees and hills gazed down upon me.

To some a thing means much; to others the same thing means almost nothing. I thought of a quotation I once learned long ago: "The tree which moves some to tears of joy is in the eyes of others only a green thing that stands in the way."

I sat for a long time delighting in the low bird music that filled the air.

Up and down, back and forth across the lawn, butterflies came drifting by that day. I sat in a world of beauty, and surprises, a land of green.

Recently, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Inman had as guests for supper and the evening Milton's aunt Millie Wentzell, Bob and Mary Eichel from Songo Pond, Bethel. Then on Fathers' Day all of their sons and families were there for the day. Several others also visited.

At the Hoits for Fathers' Day there were several callers and the families. Robert's, David's and Ann's. It was also Leona's and Fay's 51st wedding anniversary.

My visitors on Saturday and Sunday were: Mr. and Mrs. Dale Mills and their grandson, three-year-old Travis, and Bertha Mills Joyce of North Haven. Lucy Ridley came for Saturday evening and Ernest Mills came from Shapleigh for a short visit on Sunday morning.

I'm writing this on the first day of summer, June 21 and it's raining.

Tomorrow is Nestor Tamminen's birthday. He will be 90 years young and I hope he has many good things.

The children are happy that the school year is ending so I'm wishing them a good and safe summer.

Five women signed up for the class which begins July 7, Wednesday evening and runs for six weeks. Anyone interested is invited to join at a complete cost of $35. They enjoyed other activities with the family for a most enjoyable long weekend. A reception for the graduate at the Rice's home after graduation climaxed the visit, other family members, Chip and Barbara Howe, and friends joined the party. East Bethel

By NANCY MERCER

Wanda Pialock hosted a surprise bridal shower for Lisa Jordan at the Grange Hall on June 19. Lisa received many lovely gifts and best wishes from family and friends.

The wedding will be July 10 at the East Bethel church. All are welcomed to attend the reception at Clare Pialock's residence in the afternoon.

Alder River Grange #145 hosted Oxford Pomona #2 on June 22 with a supper before the meeting.

Florence Hastings visited family in Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Maine the past two weeks. She attended the memorial for Mary Toft Walton in Portland, also.

On June 23 Mrs. and Mrs. Fred Speilman of Ellington, Conn., and Adele Kimball Springer of North Carolina visited Florence Hastings.

Two weeks ago Charlene Haines had a "pecking Tom" looking in her kitchen window. A young cow moose came up and looked at her, then turned and ambled off.

By ELEANOR NELSON

Gary Dean started working at the Oxford Aviation Co. this week.

Albert and Eleanor Nelson went to their camp Saturday, June 19 for a couple of days at Wilsons Mills. Dale Nelson cared for their dog while they were away. No animals this time, but we had a circus of animals in our dooryard one evening this week. Husband was sitting out with "Asti" and the dog was trying to get to the cat—the cat was trying to get to the birds—the birds were trying to get to the little feisty red squirrel up in the tree. They were having quite a time. Every time the squirrel moved, the birds swooped down at him and that got the others going. This went on for quite some time until the squirrel got smart and hid in the lilac bushes.

North Waterford Fair Association held their yearly auction at the fairgrounds on Sunday afternoon with Albert Penley from West Paris as the auctioneer. He does an excellent job with his chatter and jokes and getting people to bid on the items. We didn't intend to buy anything but came away with a few articles. Things were going quite well and all for a good cause.

Dorlene Dunn held a Tupperware party at her home Friday evening.

Juanita Past Chiefs of the Pythian Sisters met June 8 at the home of Dolly Brown. Eight members were present with five from Hamlin Temple of Norway and three from Minehaha Temple of Stoneham.

Well, I hope all of you fathers were treated well for Father's Day and will look forward to Father's Day coming again next year. I never was a father, but when we had company the other day, the small boy said he guessed he'd go out and help Grampa Joe get some rhubarb. Joe is my nickname, in case you didn't know. Anyway, his mother straightened him out on the family connection.

Last Monday was a very hot day so I didn't do much outside until evening. I start lots of plants in my cold frames and then transplant them when they get big enough. My knees get rather lame and tender as I don't believe in getting onto my knees very often otherwise.

Tuesday, Franklin Grange put on a dinner and program for the Topsham Senior Citizen group. Thirty-six of them came by MainLine bus, stopping at several different places of interest on their way and then ended up at Franklin Grange Hall in time for dinner. One place that they had stopped at and enjoyed very much was McLaughlin's Gardens in South Paris. They thought it well worth a visit. Peggy and I went up to help with the dinner and program. They had a good dinner and then went upstairs to enjoy a 90 minute program. Richard Felt's music makers furnished most of the program, but with Richard's help, Peggy and I did a skit about a missing husband and then I spoke one of my pieces about a 10 cent can of paint that wouldn't dry on a toilet seat.

Wednesday evening, Lucy Risley and Bertha Benoit came to meet with Peggy to try and decide what to have for a program for the variety show that Franklin Grange is sponsoring on July 23. They have things pretty well lined up and all of you good people out there had better plan to attend, as it will really be a show that you don't want to miss.

Thursday evening, Peggy and I went to supper and past lectures night at West Paris Grange Hall. We had a good supper and then Peggy and I filled in as assistant steward for the evening. It was a good meeting and program.

Lorene Cobb and children, Mandy, Cayla and Preston came to visit sister Laura. They stayed to dinner as Laura fixed some chicken and gravy with vegetables, and said they ought to have some biscuits to go with the chicken and gravy. Laura didn't feel up to making them, so I concocted a batch of biscuits and they were surprisingly edible. It had been nearly 20 years since I had made biscuits, but my niece had promised me that she would eat them so what did I have to lose. They weren't jaw breakers, even after they got cold.

Saturday was a rainy day so not much was accomplished outside. Between shows, I did wash up some of the cap that I sat plain in.

Sister Laura decided to return home yesterday after spending a few days with us. She seems to be some better and we hope she keeps on improving. Good old friends seem to help more sometimes than the modern ones do. Also, down here she had someone that she could talk with most of the time.

There will be a dance at West Paris Grange Hall on July 3, with the Richard Felt Orchestra furnishing the music. Good music, I might add.

There will be a three-peak Change meeting at Franklin Grange on July 5. The streets from Oxford Grange will till the Black and Pleasant Valley Canal & from West Bethel will be furnishing the program.

Mahoosuc Land Trust officials announced last week that MLT will receive an equipment grant of $1,980 through the 1993 Environmental Support Center/Apple Computer Donation Program.

The local land conservation organization was in competition with several hundred applicants from around the country, and was one of a small number of groups to receive a grant.

According to MLT Board President Kirk Siegel, the equipment will be used for such tasks as processing increasing membership rolls, publishing "Mahoosuc Land Trust Notes," managing budgets and cash flow and organizing the data for an inventory of the area's natural resources currently being conducted by Executive Director Marcel Polak.

"We are hopeful that this endorsement from the Environmental Support Center will be echoed by increasing numbers of new members who find what we do to be important," Siegel said. "We are looking for a vote of confidence on our conservation easements on two productive tree farms, protection of several outstanding islands in the Androscoggin River, and commitment to conserve traditional uses of the landscape in the area."

The trust has embarked on a major membership recruitment effort in recent weeks. The non-profit group currently has over 160 individual and business members. Further information about its activities is available at the trust office above True North Adventureware on Main Street in Bethel, or by calling Polak at 824-3806.

THOUGHTS FROM THE Pastor's Study

The Bethel Area Clergy Association, with the help of pastors of surrounding churches, brings you these meditations. Not based on any set theme, they will be individual for each pastor. It is hoped you will find in these words comfort and hope for your daily life.

Perhaps at this time our thoughts are tuned to the pleasure and good fortune of freedom.

Or perhaps most will note the passing of Independence Day, as just another legal holiday in which we have the chance to relax, picnic, fish or do any such thing which a day off gives us a chance to do.

I am certain that those who instigated such holidays have no objection to the use of them for pleasure, yet some thought should be given to its purpose. Such thoughts should not be restricted to those days alone.

Independence, freedom, oh so great a blessing, but one that can never be taken to mean that we should be allowed to do as we please.

From time to time those famous words: "Give me liberty, or give me death" range from the Appalachian Mountains to the Atlantic Ocean, from the northern tip of our 13 colonies to its southernmost part, freedom has been a very special thing to our people.

This is a freedom we can see, it is a freedom that we can compare with the tyranny of other places; a freedom that we might say, we can

"taste and see that it is good."

This is a freedom that we can enjoy, but yet cannot have completely. We must bow down to certain things many times more than we would like.

Many years ago Moses on God's instruction and with His help, led the Israel nation from slavery in Egypt back to the land God had promised Abram. Since that time, He gave His people victory over their enemies and relieved them from oppression.

Then He gave His only begotten Son to the death of the cross, to give to those that would believe on Him victory over death.

We look back over the years of our nation's independence and think of all our men that have died to help keep this freedom, and sometimes wonder did they die in vain?

As we look at our own lives, let us remember, that all sin and fall short of the glory of God.

Did His Son die in vain for our freedom from these sins, or will we accept Him as our Savior?

ART WORK IN PROGRESS—It's been many years since cows grazed on the Bethel Common, but Steve Sechak of Rumford may have been seeing into the past Saturday, as he painted a pair of heifers during the Bethel Area Art Fair. The art fair attracted 47 exhibitors, who together made more than 50 sales, according to fair officials. The show's two purchase prizes of $200 were sponsored by Bob Chadbourne, and Lennie and Becky Shaw. Bill Randall of Harrison won best of show with the "The Whaler's Two." Colin Penley of Bethel took second with his work entitled "Eye of the Beholder." Honorable mentions went to Romeo Baker, Sue Wight, Walter Clark and Carleton Stone.

IN LOVING MEMORY
Of My Father
Robert J. Lowe
1/18/23-6/28/90

Although it seems like yesterday when we last saw you. The yesterdays are turnings to years that we are going through. Growing up with you and Ma all seemed so simple then.

We never had worries for you took care of them. Each year my garden grows and I owe that all to you. If you hadn't showed me to help you I wouldn't have known what to do. It takes love, skill and caring to make the seeds grow.

It takes all that and more for a families love to flow.

You taught me to listen and watch when we were out there in the woods. And it was there I learned of nature as under the trees we stood.

The lessons that you taught me will never go away And can be passed to my girls as we continue on each day.

Our lives have changed so much in the passing of three years. That I wish you could have stayed to allay some of my deepest fears.

If you could only see your granddaughters how proud I know you'd be.

Another recital has come and gone and we danced we did we three.

Life is going by so fast that before I even know Monica & Carrie will be off and going down that road alone. And as our life continues, we go on day by day We will try to make the most of it while we are here to stay.

You are missed and in my thoughts daily Love,

Janie, Monica & Carrie
